The reach of the Freedom Drivers Project was far and wide this year.

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR:

While sacrificing so much this year helping to care for our communities, members of the trucking industry also continued advocating for those made even more vulnerable to trafficking. In a season where we all need connections more than ever, this year has proven to be replete with connections across state and national lines, as companies of all sizes used the powerful experience of the FDP to discover ways to provide pathways to freedom for the exploited. Thank you to all our hosts and sponsors, whose tireless work, both on and off the road, leads to a safer and more comfortable and secure life for all people.
